If you were to look up the word "celebrate" in the dictionary, you would find the following definition: "to observe, as a festival or occasion, with demonstrations of respect or rejoicing." When I pick up a copy of our Toronto Star and look for the application of this word, I rarely find it except in the area of athletic achievement, i.e. how the Blue Jays recently won the World Series. The rest of the world appears to go on, and rejoicing is all but struck from its vocabulary.

Within the halls of OBC, however, I have watched you celebrate as a student body. It may be in the form of our community chapels where there definitely is a celebration in our praise and worship. It may be experiencing our new Campus Shoppe and renovated student lounge with a sense of rejoicing and gratitude. Or, it may be joyfully welcoming new freshmen students as they enter our facility for the first time.

My prayer for you is that the word "celebrate" will always be part of your vocabulary, that with God's help and presence even in turbulent times, you will be able to rise above the difficulties and rejoice in your King.

"I will exalt You, my God the King ... every day I will praise You and extol Your name for ever and ever. Great is the Lord and most worthy of praise ... I will CELEBRATE Your abundant goodness ..." (Ps. 145).

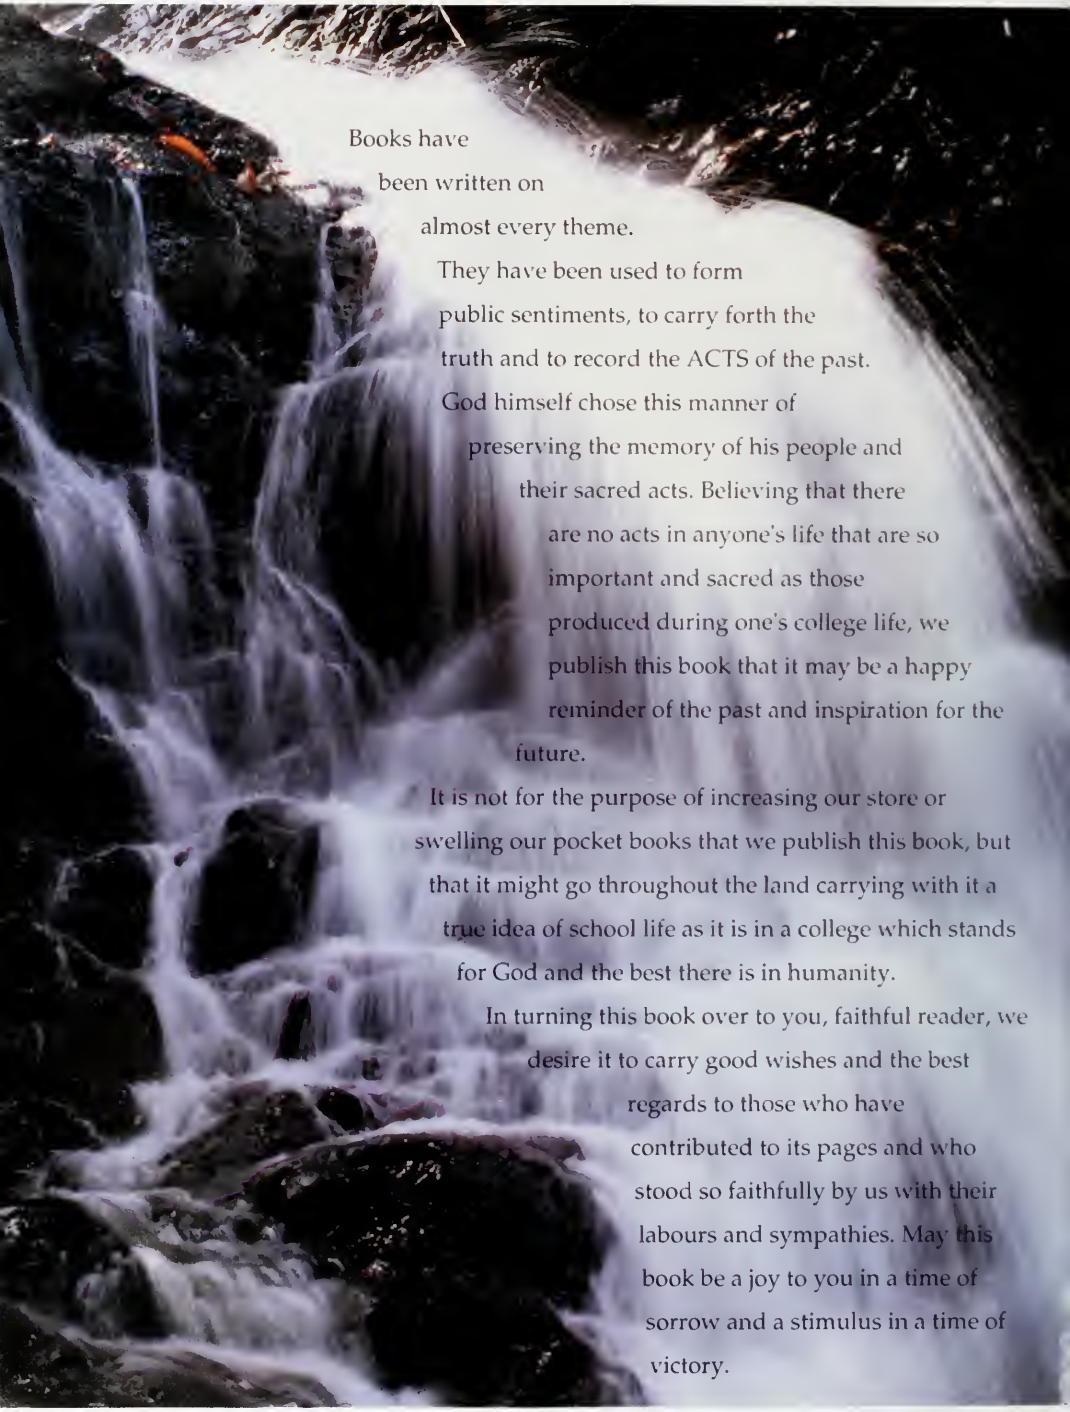
President, OBC/OTS



Books have been written on almost every theme. They have been used to form public sentiments, to carry forth the truth and to record the ACTS of the past. God himself chose this manner of preserving the memory of his people and their sacred acts. Believing that there are no acts in anyone's life that are so important and sacred as those produced during one's college life, we publish this book that it may be a happy reminder of the past and inspiration for the future.

It is not for the purpose of increasing our store or swelling our pocket books that we publish this book, but that it might go throughout the land carrying with it a true idea of school life as it is in a college which stands for God and the best there is in humanity.

In turning this book over to you, faithful reader, we desire it to carry good wishes and the best regards to those who have contributed to its pages and who stood so faithfully by us with their labours and sympathies. May this book be a joy to you in a time of sorrow and a stimulus in a time of victory.

This is your Leadership Team's version of a pyramid.

Leadership Retreat

Starting Out New

On Tuesday, September 1, the OBC Student Leadership Team left for a three day retreat at Presqui'le Provincial Park in Brighton, Ontario. After several days of jam packed planning to prepare for orientation week, some of us welcomed the thought of having a little break, the "quiet before the storm" while the rest of us secretly wished we could spend the next three days at continued planning and preparation. But as usual, it didn't take long before the warmth and comraderie replaced the anxiety, and a great week began. Our first night, several of us froze in the sub-zero temperatures while those in James Bailey's "super-deluxe, might-as-well-be-in-a-house, 26 person, condo-tent" slept snugly and soundly. The next day was warm and beautiful. We went to the beach, had a beach volleyball tournament, had a picnic lunch, and generally relaxed. Some swam, some windsurfed. Boy, there's nothing like falling off a surfboard half a kilometre from shore into the water and discovering your blood cells have just become ice and your arms and legs are too stiff to move. Despite the cool temperatures, however, the sun was definitely shining and we all came back to camp with glowing noses and sunburned cheeks. Thankfully, Dwayne remembered his sunscreen this year.

The second night was much warmer but we woke up around 4:00 a.m., and because of a rather heavy rainstorm, we had to pack up and head back to OBC. It was certainly an interesting three days. As usual, our community life staff had a well-planned schedule, with much sharing, singing, and devotionals.

After drying off back at the school and setting our tents up in the gym, we began two days of sessions to help prepare us for the year.

All in all, it was a long but quite profitable week in which we all got to know each other better and develop the closeness that helps us to work as a team.

Bear, what bear, where is it? — Bonnie Watertall and Jesse Beck are sure they heard something outside their tent. Could it really be ...?

Our Leader-ship Team performing their daily chores. If you listen closely you might hear this, "Listen, Sunlight Squeeky Clean."

Oh, that must hurt! — Cathy Clements talks to Rick Hancock as she realizes his dilemma.

This isn't fun guys; give me back my swimming trunks. — Breton Murphy taking a dip in frigid Lake Ontario.

Hmmmm, I wonder how many student leaders it takes to put up one of the easiest tents made today. (Duh! Think about it.)

Freshmen first

Orientation 1992

As our mini van crammed with luggage and furniture approached what was to become our home for the next few years, we imagined a calm, peaceful welcome...AHHHHH.

Contrary to our expectations, we were mobbed by at least three thousand student leaders, who kidnapped our belongings, overwhelming us with handshakes and introductions. After being handed a four foot long room key and hustled to our room (where we found our luggage), we headed down to the picnic, followed by the Praisefest, fireworks and our fist dorm meeting. We unpacked, talked with roommates and settled in for our first night at OBC.

Early the next morning, we were wakened by the OBC parking lot grader. The rest of the week was just as packed...putting six or seven people on a four person bike at Centre Island, running to the ferry in the rain, singing on the ferry and TTC (led by a surfer-type upperclassmen), chapel services, meeting at least five thousand people and attempting to remember all their names, BBSGA meetings, ravine walks, trying to figure out what BBSGA means; Phew! We took a deep breath and headed into REGISTRATION- the nightmare for all frosh. This is where one gets ID photos that look too real for comfort, and where one meets the frightening reality of financial STRESS. But when it was all over, we had a week packed with memories and now new friends. What a way to start a great year.....Written by: Joy Wood (5 North Freshman)

Our freshmen on their last day of vacation at Canada's Wonderland. (I wonder what Sean G. is hiding in his mouth.) — Freshmen Orientation 1992

"Walk like an Egyptian!" — I think some of our freshmen ladies have a hard time obeying boundary restrictions. — Photo at Canada's Wonderland in the out of bounds area.

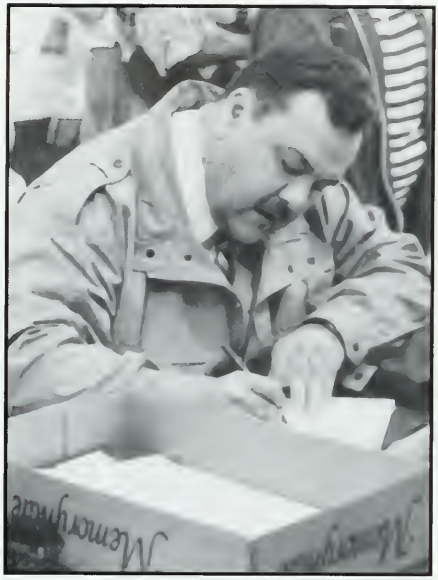
DUH! Couldn't think of anything; fill in your own:_____

Do you mean that I have to rewrite this whole thing over again? HUMPH! — New freshmen student E. P. Schust filling out the numerous forms in the OBC Freshmen registration line up on September 11th, 1992.



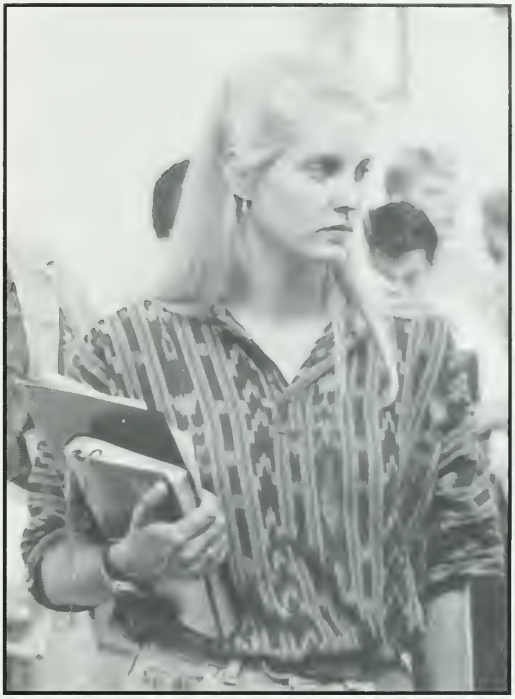
Ready and waiting to begin the full college experience, we have Paul Abell, a prominent figure in the 4 Central Dorm. — Day 1 of Freshmen Orientation — Moving in Day.

"Who are these sad looking bunch of people?" Oh, Daryl, not again, you just got sick! — Yet another group of OBC freshmen aboard one of the three ferry boats at Toronto's Harbourfront docks on their way to Center Island for the Freshmen picnic.

That glazed look, must be love, no wait, could it be?...Bonnie, how are ya! — Yet another freshmen student, B. Logan

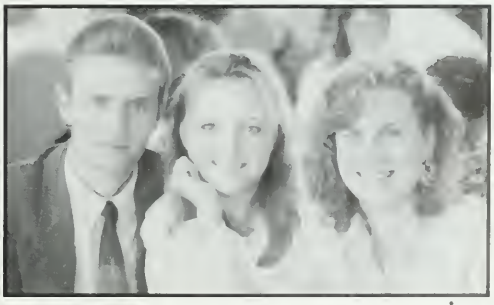
Now, what was that combination, "34 left, 23 right, past 0 once, now back to 14, darn, that's not it either!" — Tara Lindemann unloading her life to get ready for another semester here at OBC.

Boy, do I wish I could remember what that course was called, 'cause I'll never find it in this list. — J. C. Achioso, freshman student searching the lists for a certain course.



Gee, I sure wish this line would hurry up. I'm going to miss the new Star Trek episode up stairs. — Pamela Stringer waits in the long line up for registration .

Having a great time of enjoying old and new friends at the Freshmen banquet. — Mark Page, Jennifer Van Auken, Karla Roome getting to know each other during the banquet held during orientation week.



"Looking for love in all the wrong faces; looking for love in too many places...." — Yes, Maureen Newman is definently looking in the wrong place, but she does pose much better than Rebecca.

In the "Old West" there's a saying: "Few things bring as much joy to a man as his horse (oops zebra)." — Stuart Gates trying to mount his pet, ha ha.

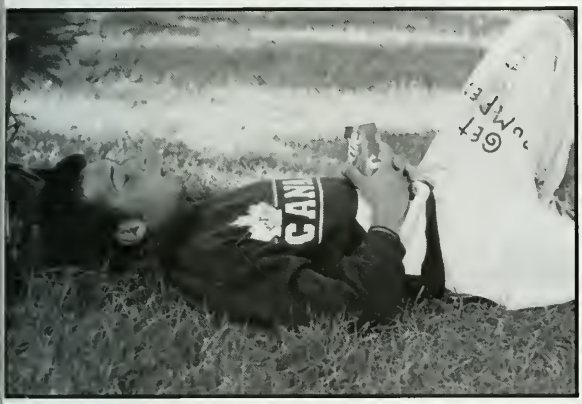
O.k., just one more time. If you put plug A into socket B, (or was that socket C), I don't think I'm ever going to figure this out. — Brian Beal trying his best to understand the computer, but he better get his fingers out of the socket or he's really going to "light up his life"

Do you want to hear a real dirty joke? No, stop! Stop! No more jokes or I'll bust! — Soo Gene Lem, actually trying to dance, but,alas, he has two left feet.

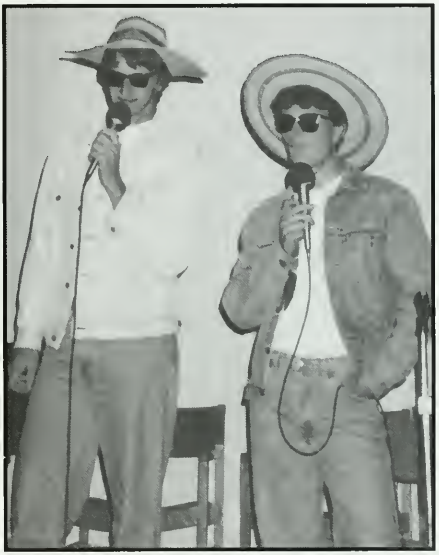
Hello, is this Laura Webb? Well, you're the next 1 million dollar winner in Publishers Clearinghouse sweepstakes. — RD Laura Webb gets that once in a lifetime phone call from Ed McMahon.

In life, there are only a few fine things men really enjoy. The warmth of a dry haven and the company of their very own fluffy, squeezable, favorite stuffed animal. — Andrew Dow settles in for another night of peace and rest.

What! Yes, I do need to chew on a guitar pick. What's it to ya!?! — Stephanie Philips during one of her less stressful days, can you tell?



Things that make you go "HMMM"! Now would you look at this, Fido Dido sweat pants and a sprite. — Don't you wonder what Eddie is trying to prove, advertising or just gentle confusion.



Hmmm, ya know we could be the next biggest sensation since Simon and Garfunkle, ...no way, BIGGER! — RA's Greg and Don trying to make it big with their Kareoke debut of "Country Roads".

ATTENTION ALL STUDENTS

There have been numerous sightings of a crazed maniac scaring off potential students. Please be careful if you see this person . She is extremely dangerous and psychotic. If spotted, please report to the nearest RD or other authorities. REMEMBER, use extreme caution if she confronts you about ME, John Bowman. Thank you!

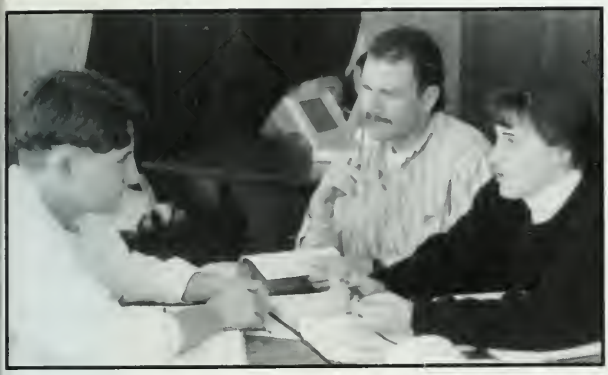
And thus we arrive at all the necessary ingredients to pull off the perfect exam-cram session at OBC. — Lana Baglole gathering together her arsenal of calories to battle against the evils of school work.

Would you look at that! Messier, marriage at last. Oh, but wait! Greg's not going to like this. He's marrying Mario Lemieux's sister. You know, I've heard his sister's so fat. (how fat is she) well, she's so fat that.....

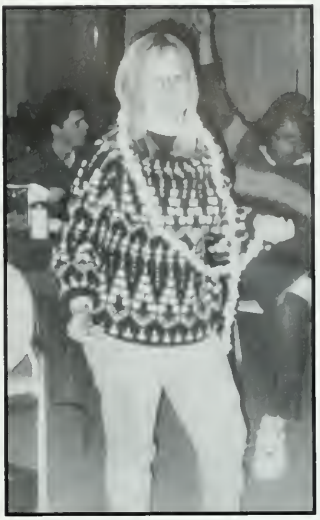
Now, I saw Fred Flintstone do this once. It requires extreme concentration. It'll be a double-bank, round the table, triple combination, black ball in the corner pocket. (Remember, children, don't try this at home!) — Orim Meikle trying to impress his captive audience with his billiard ability

You know even when you let them out for a while, they just don't know how to act. Children these days. You can't live with them and, by golly, you can't live without them either. (Come on kids, time to go home. Awww, do we have to!) — Even the ladies from 3rd know how to have a good time.

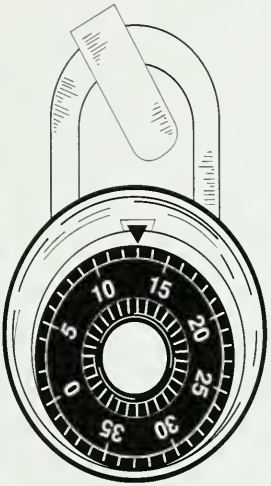
Whenever I remember December 1992, I have to lie down 'cause there is just no way I'm going to go through that ordeal again. — Don Ludlow after being drained of all blood at one of our many blood donor clinics.



You know, every day at OBC you tend to stumble across new and inovative ways of cutting down on costs of school supplies. — Talk about being stingey. Here's a person who thinks he can sharpen his pencil in his nose.



Ladies of OBC, you too can have this aesthetically pleasing head of hair for the low price of $25. Payable in advance to me. Just stick your finger in your light socket and.....Voila!



And here we have Miss Estabrooks sporting our latest style in edible Christmas garland. Umm, umm good. — Naomi getting ready for Santa, HO HO HO.

Clearly there are many different forms of enjoyment around the school. Can you PICK them out? — Here's a hint. Look at Matt Dyck.

I can't believe I made it! When I came to OBC I realized how little I knew and that the learning process never ends. I thank God for what He Has taught me about Himself, myself and others. The incredible memories — RAing (Mtgs...& more mtgs, dorm suppers, intramurals...thanks 3S!), late night walks & talks, Bookstore, hockey!, the GROUP, the "Good Shepherd Connection", leadership retreats, trekkies, & the Class of '93. Thanks to JB (what a roommate!), TMH, & GT for trying to understand me even when I didn't; to JP, J & JS, JG, RM, P & KJ, and LW. Thank you."

Whoa! Three years at OBC and what do I have to show for it? a BRE (Big Rear End) and lots of great memories. I wish I could get together all my friends who pushed me to these new heights and wrap my arms around them to say thanks. But instead I'll turn to the two people who gave me all their love, encouragement and blessing. Thanks Mom & Dad — this is for you

Yes, OBC IS INHABITED BY ALIENS. Our latest applicant, a member of the Hand-Me-Downs, from the Planet Tacky-On. — Cathy Clements trying on her new wardrobe for an all exciting year at OBC. (We hope!)

So, what is Dr. Duez's theology on, 1 Corinthians 13:11b "...when I became a man, I put childish ways behind me." — Dr Duez during one of his days when he just couldn't get food to his mouth.

There's just no end to Joy's talents. As well as playing the trumpet and singing, she's well on her way to becoming the next OBC contortionist. — Joy Dickson during one of the many South Dorm nights with their brothers from below

As Heather removes the mask, Tara's true identity shines through. — Do we notice any difference in the look on Tara's face now than we have in the past?

Riding into the sunset in the "Old West" you might hear far off in the distance "Hi, Ho, Silver, Away!" But not coming from this dude, because he knows what Kemosabe really means. — Stuart, digressing back to his childhood days of fun and frolick at the Metro Zoo.

OBC's resident thieves have been apprehended at last! In accordance with Scripture they will be returning all stolen items times 4. — Luke 19:8. Shelly and Janet, caught with their hands in the cookie jar. Think they'd make it as thieves?

Here we have "Mr. Coffee Cup", OBC's infamous and little known mascot symbolizing the student bodies drug of choice. — Believe me, when it's not around, it's noticeable.

Yes, it has struck again!!! Here we have a typical student suffering from "exam-week" anxiety. This terrible disease can only be cured by "Mr. Coffee Cup". Who ya gonna call....

Becky and Steve find no place on the tree to put this life-size Christmas ornament, and who would want it on their tree anyway? — The Three Stooges, nyuck, nyuck , nyuck.

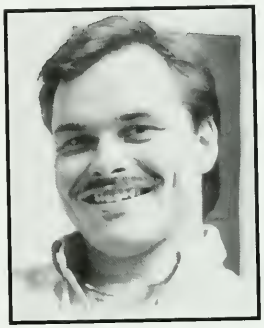
DORM CRAZE

Three North

There's been talk going around all year that the "old men" of 3-Alloway North are a boring bunch of guys. Hogwash! We may not be as "loud" as the guys on fourth flour, but we're anything but boring. In fact, we're often sleeping during the day (in and out of class) because we have such an active night life! That's right, you young bucks can spend all your time studying, if you insist, but we're here to party!

A few of us have developed a fondness for all-night card games, playing Hearts until the wee hours of the morning. Now I ask you, is that something you'd catch old people doing? Bridge, maybe, but Hearts? I don't think so! Now, lest you get the idea that we're not actively involved in the community, I should hasten to tell you that we do leave the building from time to time. We DO do more than just sleep all day and play cards all night. For example, Happy Hour at the doughnut shop down the street. Not only does the caffeine help us stay awake all night, but the doughnuts provide a much-needed snack several hours after the cafeteria is closed.

Harald Seidler



Troy DuMoulin

Our vim, vigor and vitality can perhaps best be seen on the football field. While our team's superior experience didn't cause us to win every game this year (just one of life's many mysteries), we did exhibit true grit on the grid iron. The number of injuries we sustained is, needless to say, just another example of those great mysteries of life.

All these things are, of course, group activities. But, as individuals, we're pretty exciting guys in our own right, as demonstrated in our diversity. I suspect most of you young guys came to OBC from (yawn) high school, but we came from all over! Not only do we have a South African RA, but we have Ethiopians, an ex-soldier, an ex-scribe and a saxophone player who doesn't even go to school here! With this much stuff going on in 3-North, it's a wonder (another of those mystery things) how anyone could consider us as anything but "exciting"!

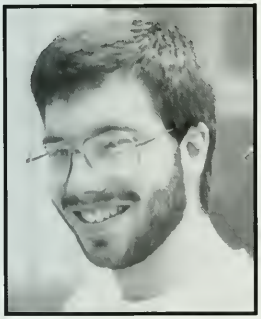
Three South

Bonnie Waterfall

Jessie Beck

Dropping by the 3rd floor was a unique experience this year (especially for its residents!). Besides the friendships and laughs, tea parties, bargain hopping, bathroom conversations, paper writing ("does anyone have a printer?"), the 3rd Floor Dance Clubs (Bird; Life is a Highway; Behind the Locked Door Dancers) and the Lounge gab sessions.....we have our very own resident counsellor -- Aldith the "Lovvve Doctor" Stewart; Debbie sitting in her lawn chair at the end of the hall; "Attitude Check!" (I am loved, You are loved, God loves you!"); Kirkegaard; our Greek singing expert Germaine, and our combo of Seneca, Humber, OBC, OTS, and non-students -- it's very obvious that we are "BOUND TOGETHER BY LOVE". Our RA's>>>Bonnie and Jessie, Johnnie and Bessie, inseperable yet always apart (gag!). Thanx Babes! We're coming over for tea! Our Brother dorm? It takes two to toga! We're the beauties and you're the beasts??! (There's hope for your princely insides yet!) We wuv you guys!

Four North



Sandy Mackley

Rob Mousley

North! Also affectionately known by some as the Great White North or the North Pole. North is often seen as the quiet, studious dorm. Nothing could be farther from the truth. Come spend some time with us and find out what North is really like.

First of all, North leads OBC with the most engagements of all the dorms in 92/93, and for those that have not purchased the diamond ring for the special lady yet, or who may not have that special lady yet, they worked on it by taking out their eloquent, wonderful-cute, sister dorm.

Light shades, not towel, dorm signs, closet doors, RA phone messages, sister dorm, sister dorm meetings, football, intellectual discussions, dorm supper, OT exams, dancing, loud music, even louder music, referendum propaganda, Rap, the lounge, Blue Jays, John Bell, blind volleyball, taboo, Cape Breton, pop cans, leaky windows, sneezing.

With our theme of "Building Each Other Up", we all sought God in a more positive way.

All in all, North is really quite a hee-bee gee-bee, hunky-dory, mombo, wicked, awesome, cool, excellent, narly, radical place to be.

What better way to work on "Building Each Other Up" than by having a great time and lots of God-centered fun. We hope that everyone had a great time and has at least one memory that they'll be tellin' their grandkiddies.

Four Central

In any of your finer newspapers you will see writeups like the one you are about to step into, so indulge, and kick back and let the memories flow while you step back into the OBC archives. Ah yes, as we recline back, we see Room 422 and the RA's of four central doing a little Bill Cosby-style softshoe to one of John Denver's finest, country rounds- just what are those guys doing. As we look back our memories are brimming with many different captions of the past in the good old "glory days" (Bruce Springsteen). Wait, hold it! There goes Mark Jefferson. Fancy seeing you here, we have missed you this year, and how about his roommate, good old Andrew Wheeler, affectionately know as Luke (Luke Perry, that is). So what's it like in Beverly Hills? Those sideburns are HUGE, speaking of HUGE, here comes Robin(Crowder)Bailey. Those Jays are HUGE(bang, bang). Well, good for them, sorry Matt (Probert) but anyway, how's Eugene, grade 10, DUH! Seeing as we are talking about dorm life, where is Weird Al (Mark Albert)? You know when he's around, he must be instructing-good to see you, watch out for that curb! Well, good for you says Scott Nyp, his roomie, and don't be silly, kicks are for trids. But the bottom line is, sure she's a good cook, but does she have good childbearing hips? EASY? The loudmouth RA from Madoc speaks out from his hickish Datsun flatbed yelling, "Oh, hey Mom", as he takes off somewhere down a "country road" to find a cow to milk. While we are on the topic of animals we can fire over to Room 423 where lives a highly decorated bear, called Jeremy, and look! I'm a moose, John presides, wait a minute, what is with that wimpy quarterback music coming from next door. I thought that Phil would quit listening to that when football was over, no such luck! Speaking of luck, where's Lucky (Dwayne Cline)? I can't hear him! He must have gone to Ireland to find himself that Pot-o-Gold. In terms of gold, there's always hockey Dave, as gold as Gretzky and hey, Dave, that is some friend from Winnipeg. "It's a little known fact" says his roommate Paul, known as Cliff. Sort of like Matt (The Wall) McKeown, we believe that he kidnapped Mark Jefferson and took him to R.C.C. (football rules). That sure is a STICKY situation. So, Trevor (Sticky), when our your parents moving into Dorm? I hear that 431 is available. Just tell them to watch out for the fearless leader of the Mickey Mouse Posse, Mark (Homey) Duplisea. Don the RA would like to work this out but he has a previous ENGAGEMENT, quit being (so slick) Don. Speaking of slicksters, is she really going to Denver, Rob? Ya, who's that? Is it Glenn, ya! What are you doing, Glenn, ya. Is that your favorite word? Ya. That's fine, Gordie (Lumpy) how are you?. Oh fine. Hi, I'm K____Y. The number of the songs are ... Gord, where is your roommate Karl (Kurly), still in bed? Ask Norm how the suds are. By the way, the leafs are HUGE. By the way, Brian (BB), you got to break the HAB-it. It sure is a good thing that Hugh was there to help Phil pick in the hockey pool, it doesn't matter, it's all greek to me. In the last page of the archives, we find another Mark, Mark Page that is. See no need to worry, your roommate didn't kill you. All in all, it's was an amazing, HUGE, year in Central, while we "REFLECTED HIS GLORY" (2 Corinthians 3:18). Praise God. Parting is such sorrow so we thought that we would leave with this parting deep thought. "When something flies across a room and latches onto a guys neck and he starts screaming, I have to laugh, cause, what is that thing?"

South! South! Whoop! Whoop! As the year began, freshmen and upperclassmen arrived and this was their cry! The spirit of South was refreshed once again as we blew people away with South Spirit! (Also: Thanks to Dave's speaker!) Our RA's, Pat and Gary, what can we say but we want to thank you for giving some of us the opportunity to know just what it looks like inside a police cruiser! Oh, Aaron! Some friend you are!

On a serious note, South guys have come together in fellowship. Studying God's word, praying and toilet papering Central's Cars!! (Next on our hit list: North).

We've noticed two extremes in South society, some delved into music (forming the South Wing Band) and others stretched into sports. But these two extremes come together in prayer! South Guys! We're out of this world!

Five North

Romans ..... 12 ..... 10 ..... HUT!!!

As a dorm, 5 North has really taken their theme verse to heart. We've huddled together for Monday night prayer meetings and Bible study. Our QUARTERBACKS, Kim and Erin, have CALLED many great PLAYS for Dorm Meetings that have SCORED big in friendships and fun. The Jack-in-the-Box, the Play of the Year, was sprung into action by our MVP's, Brenda and Amy. We CHEERED our guys all the way to the Toilet Bowl. Through much determination and team unity, we TACKLED the competition in intramurals and our victories were sweet. As the year passed, we PRACTICED our plays and we truly learned to be "... joyful in hope, patient in affliction, and faithful in prayer ..." BUILDING EACH OTHER UP!!!!

HIP HIP LET IT RIP, YEAH NORTH!!!!!

Central — the final frontier. These are the voyages of the Starship Centre-prise. It's year long mission — to explore strange new worlds (in the fridge), to seek out new life and new civilization (under the beds), to boldly go where no one has gone before (the 5C lounge).

This mission has been a hazardous one. It has given us new meaning to late-night "studying". It has taught us not to call certain Central women "chicks". We have learned through experience not to get in the middle of a 523 vs. 529 war. We know now about our dorm's volleyball prowess. The Centre-prise has visited far away place (like Beverly's farm!) and met strange people (How else could you characterize Joy & Carolyn?). We have all done weird things (How do we get only one point on the ground?). And there is so much more to tell if we had the time!!

The most important thing we learned, though, is that Central is the centre of the universe! May Central memories live long in our hearts! By'all!

Five South

5 South Girls, what a bunch
Wacky, crazy, out to lunch!
Fiesty, fun and they love God
"In the light" is where they trod.

Ann-Marrie and Naomi are who you'll see
At the southeast of the south - there they be.
And Dawna and Judy are across the hall
Playing volley and basketball.

Moving on down there's Tara and Janet
Trying to contact their home planet,
And Heather and Bonnie - what a pair;
Hey, what's Stuart doing there?

Judy and Sandy both have rooms of their own;
Each decor is their very own tone.

And Jill and Jodi, how do they rate?
A perfect 10 for staying up late.
Next to their room is the Cape Breton Inn
Look closely and perhaps you'll see Kim or Jenn.

A telephone rings, Grace and Ellie
For this is gernerally the ringing tellie.
Then don't forget Shelly and Joy
Up to many a secret ploy.

Lynette and Mimi, two cool cats
For the end of South that's where it;s at.
But do not forget Joy and Becky - the two RA's
Who will love their girls all of their days.

Joy Cutler

The theme for the year was "Walking in the Light" and our prayer is that none of us will ever forget who lights our path and guides our steps. We hope that all of us will walk an exciting and Godly path in life!

Ontario Theological Seminary

The sixth floor, or the "cemetary" floor as some like to call it. For some reason, we don't know why, OBC students fear to come past the fifth floor. Well, we hope this year will get rid of those fears. Lets give some answers to a few questions.

"WHAT DO SEMINARY STUDENTS DO?

No, we don't walk around in hooded robes with our noses in books all the time. We like to have our games and movie nights at dorm meetings just as much as everyone else. We would like to get to know our OBC neighbours better and maybe even go on a few outings together. Believe us we're not always as serious as some people say we are. "Sem Geeks Indeed". We like to enjoy ourselves just as much as the next person.
Well here's hoping that we get to know each other better this year. DON'T BE STRANGERS.

Student Life

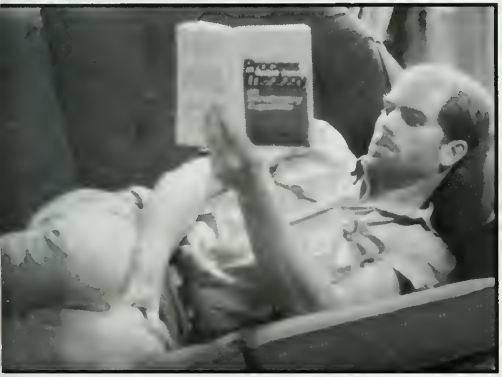
WORK DAZE

Number One way on a top ten list to protect yourself against a sprinkler malfunction. — Chris Dowber studying in the second floor lounge.

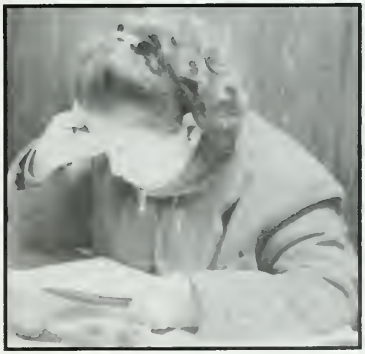
"Only thirty more pages to copy out of this dictionary and then the teacher will let me go. Flip! Another mistake. Oh well, time to start over." — Brian Beal copies A to Z in Oxford's Twelve Volume Dictionary.

Well, John, uhhhhhh, well, I. Hmmmmmmm. Gee, that's a tough one. Well, Steph, do have the answer? — Stephanie Phillips looking for the answer. (It's blowing in the wind, Steph.)

If I take up two seats, maybe I can learn twice as fast! — David Van Harten studies in a comfy couch.



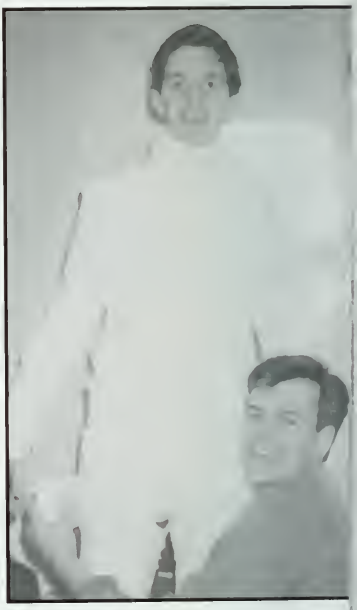
Seminary student tries to introduce a new method of study — music association. — Linda Ham proofreads a lyric sheet.



TIME to Have Fun

In his spare time, Ed decided to join our new, abstract art class. One might wonder what his reasons were??? — Eddie DeFrietas and friends out for a romp in the snow with Frosty the Snowman. (How convienient!)

In the day time, Barry Donor poses as your average mild mannered OBC student. At night, this latest superhero jumps into action as the "WYPER". — Barry and Derreck engaging in some illegal mischief



Um, I see you haven't been using crest with tartar fighting formula. We'll have to do some drilling. — Even though we can't tell this is Don Hiscox, believe me it is. I took the picture myself during one of his sporatic fits of rage.

When studying for exams, the students at OBC go through extreme measures in order to recall the material they so faithfully avoided looking at during the semester. — This year's grads playing a game of "imitation" during one of their class chapels.

Sprout, what are you using that "dingle-hopper" for? — Tracy Sproule makes an attempt at the first human hairball.

On the set of a new how-to video for children — "How to Play Airplane with Food". — Suzy Kim forces down lunch.

FOOD for Thought

Finally, be strong in the Lord and in his mighty power. Put on the full armour of God so that you can take your stand against the devil's schemes. For our struggle is not against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the powers of this dark world and against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly realms. Therefore put on the full armour of God, so that when the day of evil comes, you may be able to stand your ground, and after you have done everything, to stand. Stand firm then, with the belt of truth buckled around your waist, with the breastplate of righteousness in place, and with your feet fitted with the readiness that comes from the gospel of peace. In addition to all this, take up the shield of faith, with which you can extinguish all the flaming arrows of the evil one. Take the helmet of the word of God. And pray in the Spirit, which is all occasions with all kinds of prayers and requests With this in mind, be alert and always keep on praying for all the saints.

The Three Stooges — but why are they using Steve's head for a table? — Manny Mourtzanos, Greg Tobin, Rick Hancock & Steve Wilson's head show off the last of 240 cans of Coke, all drunk by them within the last 20 minutes. Wired guys?!

Yes, you too can have these pearly whites. Just ask either girl and they'd be happy to share. — Betsy-Marie Warnar and Sylvie MacMillan showing that they both use Close-UP toothpaste for a brighter smile. (Where are my sunglasses!)

Hmmmmmm ... Rob, isn't one girl enough? — Rob Mousley, Jill McLelland, and Kim McEachern arguing over whose arms are longer. (And the winner is ... Rob!)

Andrew, is that ... no, it couldn't be. Is that a girl you're trying to hide? — Andrew Dow gets a a live demo on how to hug girls.

One of these things is not like the other — can you guess? — Brenda Engberts and Krista Giles when they were still dry.

"The last guy who stared at me while I was eatin' my corn here didn't live to talk about it the next day. Get my drift?" — Judy Gomes enjoying one of Beaver Foods' many theme meals in the Cafeteria. "Yeeha, Saddle Up Partners!"

"Chantilly Lace, a pretty face and a pony tail hanging down with a wiggle in her walk and a giggle in her talk, makes the world go 'round and 'round and 'round. — 'Beverly, yes we all know that you love the farm, but, please go a wash the mud off a yer face this instant. Oh and stop streakin' around the cafe, o.k?

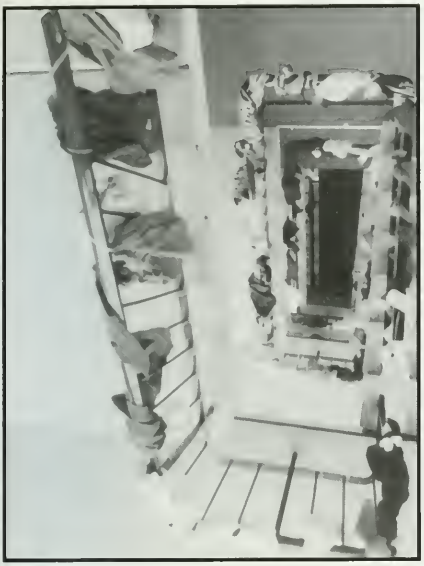
— Janet Howie giving us a demonstration on what a "Sucker" looks like when it's hungry.

Did You Hear The One About

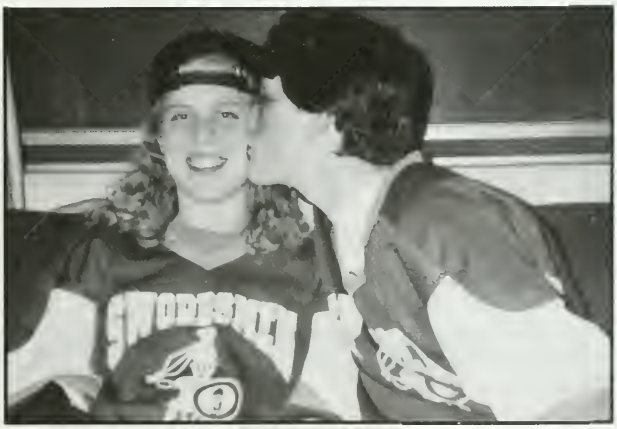


Some students have clearly misunderstood the reason for having bannisters on the stairwells. To those guilty parties, we do have automatic dryers in the basement. — Do you know who these clothes belong to? If you do, could you please let us know?

This is where I draw the line. If I want to drink coke with my soup, I, as a Christian, have the freedom and I claim it! Amen! — My roommate, if you really want to know. I think all those holes in his head have caused some brain leakage. Kidding! Love Ya Bud!

As Bible College students, it's refreshing to see that we've left our old ways behind and superstitions no longer control our actions. — Ever heard of "Cone Heads"? Well, here's a new one: "Can Heads", and Matt definitely has a lot of metal on his head.

There's one good thing about brothers and sisters. After the trials and tribulations, you can always make up and laugh about it. — Speaking of laughing, Donny when did you start to wear blush and lipstick. Been taking lessons from Tammy Baker I see?



SPORTS

Volume 1, Number 1, Edition 1 OBC 1992-1993 School Year

OBC Baseball Signs Derrick Bell - 3M

In a landmark decision yesterday, the Ontario Bible College baseball organization was able to sign Derrick Bell, former outfielder for the Toronto Blue Jays, to a 3 million-3 year contract.

The negotiations took a full month to iron out all of the bugs but the OBC coaching staff knew exactly what they wanted and did everything they could to get it.

The contract will begin in the 1993 season.

In an interview, Bell said that he was "disapponted that I am leaving the Jays, but I look forward to playing for such an incredible team."

The OBC team has had their best season yet since their creation several seasons back. They won 92 out of their 96 games. They then went on to win the pennant and the World series in four games and five games respectively. This is one of the hottest baseball teams around.

The general manager believes, with Bell's help, they can go on and become the greatest team in baseball history. All they need are fourty or fifty more seasons like the one they just had.

OBC Host Canadian Outdoor Gymnastics Championships

The Canadian Junior Outdoor Gymnastics Championships were held at Ontario Bible College in their courtyard area.

The event was a total success with a total of 70 teams participating from three countries.

The Yukon team came out on top with 7 golds and 6 silvers. The runner up was the Northern Ontario team from Mooseny with 6 golds and 4 silvers.

The only problem with the games was that there were never enough people in any given event to give out bronze medals. The rumour floating around right now is that it is a Russian conspiracy created by the CIA.

The Ontario Bible College team did exceptionally well this time around. They received 2 golds, 2 silvers and 3 bronze medals, a personal best for the team.

The winners are now on to the North American World Championships in which they will compete against the United States of America.

Swim Team takes Gold at Canadian's

The Ontario Bible College Aquatic Club recently won gold overall in the Canadian championships. The team was able to take gold in the 200 and 400 freestyle, the 200 and 400 breast stroke, the 200 butterfly and 400 back stroke. All other races they received silver except for the 400 butterfly in which they received a bronze medal.

This upset came at the surprise of all judges and other coaches at the meet. The OBCAC has definitely proven itself as a contender. The question is how they will do at the World Championships being held next week.

The yearbook staff are not responsible for lies printed here. Who ever said journalism was responsible anyway?

Have you ever wondered what the purpose of Athletics is? For some, the solitary reason in playing sports is to gain victory through intense competition...it becomes a way of life. For others, Athletics is simply a fun way to exercise their bodies. These are both valid reasons...but it means a lot more than that to me!

You see, Athletics is a gift from God... just like singing. Since it is a gift, and not rightfully ours, we ought to use this talent to glorify our master. This follows the principle of offering our tithes before God. We give back a portion of that which has been graciously granted to us.

Athletics offer us a unique opportunity to express our gratitude to God for allowing us the honour of using our bodies to worship him through sports. It is this thankfulness which our fellow athletes (and spectators), both Christian and non-Christian, esteem and admire. We are viewed as "different".

Once we set ourselves apart in our attitudes and thinking, we create an opportunity to share our gratitude for this awesome gift which God has given us. Athletics then become a "ministry". It is founded on life-style evangelism.

The next time you play a sport (whether it is an organized game, or just playing catch with your younger brother or sister ... or your nephew, like my little Joshua), show your gratitude to your heavenly father for the ability he has given you to run and jump and play ... others aren't as fortunate.

A LOOK AT OUR BASED ON FACTS!
SCHOOL SPIRIT

Women at OBC are known for their many feminine, lady-like characteristics, but every once in a while we come across what one could call a "Freak of Nature". — Sandy, having a rompin' good time, tempting Georgettes tastebuds, while Sarah looks on hungrily waiting for her turn to be fed.

As part of the New Constitution of OBC, it is herby decreed that not only will we move to inclusive language but equality will be encouraged in wardrobe selection as well as unisex hair-do's. — Poor John! I knew he shouldn't have tried that new shampoo, and look Betsy-Marie is going all philosophical on us.

Many people have left OBC engaged or married. Central gave us our first ever wedding ceremony, complete with a dance from the Bride & Groom and Phil MacCormack's debut of "Kiss The Girl." — With a name like "Lucky", who could ask for more?

As students at Ontario Bible College, we believe in order to truly understand our Christian heritage, we must be aware of our roots and background, right Peter? — Peter Brubacker must have done something extremely terrible to become lion fodder. Story tonight on Channel 8 News

SEEING EYE TO EYE

Peter will be seeing "eye to eye" soon enough, I guess when the Lion becomes hungry

As we walk through the cafeteria on a quiet day, we see Cherlyn Fagan at a table. If you listen carfully she maybe saying this "Can you feel the music in the food, just taste it and let it tickle your tastebuds." — Cherlyn Fagan, in the cafe enjoying every morsel of food that is in her mouth after a long day of fasting.

FACE THE FACTS

Well, shut my mouth, if'in isn't our dear ol friend "Cowboy Bob" and his sidekick "stringy" out for a little walk through the cafeteria. Ya know what, I'ma thinkin' there might be a little accident over there in aisle 3, why don't you just go over thar and check it out. — Poor old Mike, being given the bottom jobs again. Wait now, is he waving "goodbye".

Its often been said of many people that the editor of the yearbook very seldom has his picture in it. Well, just so you know , I got caught by the camera too, so plghhhhhh..... — John Bowman, the editor, trying to sneak another good picture, but got caught himself.

Sie, Senor, this is e very hot dish. You may enjoy it but drink lots of water first. — Nicole, a prominent worker for Beaver Foods showing off her sombrero. Yours for only, 2.95 peso's.

I don't know what they are using for ingredients in the cafeteria, but, boy, do you get some interesting after-effects. — Your friend and mine, Rod Lamb, during one of his many fits of spontaneous, side-splitting rage, frequently followed by Chris Dowber.

Who says nice guys always finish last? "Eat your heart out Tom Cruise!" — Don't these two make a lovely couple? "Wait, a minute! Gary get that mask off."

C'mon give me a clue. One, two, three, aw. C'mon, what's next guys? Really, this isn"t fair! — Betsy-Marie trying out a new way to memorize the books of the Bible. Can she do it?

No matter how old and how educated they are, one truth still remains, "Boys will be boys!" — Ladies and Gentlemen, Dr. Duez up to bat. Yes folks, it's a blue ribbon day for our "pertect prof."

Andre Turcotte

The cutest baby in the world was Andre! He was born in Drummondville, Quebec on March 6, 1970 at 5:30 pmm weighing 61 lbs and 6 ozs. He was a very strong baby and could lift up his head on his first day. A nurse wanted to know what this baby's name was because she wanted to write about this strong baby in her "Nursing Diary".
He was the first grand-child out of a family of ten kids on his paternal side. Every time he would just "Sign", someone was there to watch him being so smart.
The smartest thing of all was that he could read at 2 years old.
The rest is history!

Congratulations Chopper! With the possible exception of the Blue Jays, you're the best thing that the Big T has experienced in years. Sometimes we wondered if you were the one having the ball, and while the Jays had the dugout we were afraid that you had dug in for a lifetime up there with all the transplanted Newfies and CB'ers. Thank goodness for forestry engineers! Follow Jesus example when he said that he "must be about His Father's business" and your life will know true success for time and eternity. We love you and are proud of you

"Your love has given us great joy and encouragement because you, son, have refreshed the hearts of the Saints." Philemon 7, paraphrased.

Look out world! Here he comes! He's ready and willing to go.

"Congratulations Troy! When you were born and we saw you we were filled with joy and expectations. As you grew up we were always quick to point out that you were our son to anyone standing by and now we know the true meaning of Proverbs 23:24.

The father of a righteous man has great joy; he who has a wise son delights in him. May your father and mother be glad; may she who gave you birth rejoice."

With Love from Your Family.

Dear Riekeltje,

Even though you are all grown-up, you are still our little girl, who's climbing to the top.
Congratulations! May God bless you in the future.

Love always;
Heidt & Mem

Janet,

Congratulations!
We are so proud of you. You're still a barrell of laughs!

Love,
Mom & Dad

It Is Finished...

When everything is said and done and the last of the pages of the 1992\93 yearbook Maxaipa go by my eyes for the final approval. it is then that I can rejoice in knowing that it was a job well done by my many faithful staff members. You could ask if I enjoyed working on the yearbook, and throughout the year at OBC many of you could have probably answered for me, but it was a worthwhile job for a person who never gives up. (Always says he will, but never does!)

Heres to a "Job Well Done" to my staff whom I am indebted to for this years amazing work on the MAXAIPA!!

GOD BLESS,

1992 / 1993 Maxaipa Staff

For all those whose names have been forgotten, thanks for your many pictures continuously deposited in my box.

Good, now don't move a muscle...

As I sit here and write this nearing mid-morning around 5am, on the last week of February, working on the archives of the Maxaipa, I would like to say its been easy. I would like to say its been unstressful, but that wouldn't be the truth, and most of you who know me would agree.

Putting together the Maxaipa has probably been one of the hardest things I have ever done, and also one of the most rewarding. After 4 years of working on yearbooks I still am amazed at how much work there is in one and I often ask myself one question. "Why do I do this?" I can't say the Maxaipa is lots of fun to work on, but it does have its moments.

Few people realize what goes into making a yearbook or the actual amount of time it takes. There's not a lot of glamour to it and most of the jobs get pretty tedious. Much of what needs to be accomplished is based on diplomacy between people, and communication.

All in all, it's the people who are willing to do the yucky jobs that put the yearbook togther. Some of the people who really helped me out especially at the end deserve a very big "Thank You".

Glenn, you are an amazing co-editor, thanks for your hard work on the Maxaipa and all the long nights we put in. Lana, I want to thank you for your grammar skills in the copy area, but most of all I want to thank you for caring enough to let me know when I needed a break. Darrell, well Mister Put-Together-A-Title-Page-In-Seconds, your hard work will be noticed for a long time to come. Awesome job. Eddie, without you over the last couple of weeks, I don't think I would have ever come out with that many pages finished. I'm really looking forward to having you on my team next year. To my photographers, Paul, Mark, Aaron, Brian, thanks for getting pictures to me when I really needed them done. Without you three I'd be dead by now. And to my darkroom buddies, Claudine, and Margie, your dedication to the yearbook is "beyond belief". You two were real assets to the book. And to all of those who did write-ups for me over the last eight months, again you all helped me in great strides, thank you for your dedication. Well, thats it for this year, staff of the yearbook, you are officially dismissed, and oh, "JOB WELL DONE, ON A YEARBOOK THATS OUT OF SIGHT"!

John Bowman, Editor 1992 /1993 Μαξαιπα

Honey, come look at this ...

This past year with the Maxaipa has been a busy one. A lot of planning, organizing, and tedious "mousing" went into producing this ninety-six page reminder of younger days. Years from now, you'll be sorting through some old stuff in the attic, and you will come across this book. Take time to look through it again and remember times gone by. Take time to remember all of the special memories that this year has brought. Remember how good God has been. Thank Him.

The Maxaipa has seen many changes this year. All of the layout is done using desktop publishing, hopefully producing a more professional looking book. We have tried to include a diversity of people so that not just the "in" crowd gets in. We have included a caption with each photo not only to be professional, but also to help you put names to faces thirty years from now. We hope that you appreciate the effort we have put into this book. We believe in it.

Working on the Maxaipa this past year has been a marvellous experience. Many events were frustrating, from film being blank to the computer "losing" various key elements (like the cover!), but we have reached the reward. To all the staff who committed their time and energies to this year's book, thank you; we could not have done it without you. John, I have learned so much from you; I'm glad you want to stay on for next year. Thanks for being a friend. I hope that the new direction in which we have taken the yearbook will help it be more of a blessing to those for whom it was intended.To my wife-to-be, Christine, I must say thank-you for all of the support and loving you have provided over the past year. Thanks for putting up with deadlines and the associated late nights. I love you.Lord, without You I would not have remained sane long enough to write this.I look forward to growing more in you.

My prayer is that all of you in the student body will seek to glorify God and grow in your relationship with the Saviour. May He continue to bless in 1994.
